It was attended by the students of Grades I-IV. The event was organized by 'Saahas'- a NGO well known for its social and environmental work. The aim of the workshop was to educate students on the importance of waste reduction, recycling, and proper disposal techniques. 'Saahas'-NGO has been working in the field on waste management since 2001 with a belief that, 'if waste is managed at source it will become a resource'.

The key objective of the workshop was to increase awareness of children about the environmental and health impacts of improper waste management and to inculcate the love and care for nature as part of their lives.

The workshop included active discussion and hands-on activities on waste segregation techniques, composting methods and recycling process. Children ardently participated and gained the practical knowledge in waste management practices.
